02

VILLA RENOVATION

Meadows 03 Dubai

When it comes to villa renovation, lot of companies take the risk calculations as slow process along with project management. We took this process fast and our ongoing project reaches to the new milestone by reallocating structural columns from ground to first floor.

VERTICAL GARDENS

Vertical gardens are a stunning visual addition to any outdoor space. They offer a unique way to seamlessly blend vibrant plants and flowers with their surroundings. Furthermore, they offer many opportunities to improve air quality, conserve water and energy, and reduce urban noise and poor air quality.

Vertical gardens can be made of a variety of materials, including wood, metal, and plastic. For many, vertical gardening is also an eco-friendly activity, as it avoids using harsh chemical fertilizers, pesticides, and other potential contaminants and relies on natural methods to promote plant growth. On top of environmental benefits, WOODGreen vertical gardens also promote a sense of calm and tranquility to their surroundings, and create a pleasant atmosphere. In addition, these gardens can provide a haven for wildlife, providing shelter and food for creatures like birds, butterflies, and bees. All in all, WOODGreen vertical gardens offer an attractive and unique option for improving your landscaping and making the most of your outdoor space.
